

SVE Truck Attachment

SVE Truck Attachment - Svetruck began in the year 1977, designing a reliable, service-friendly and durable forklift. When they began that year the company had a clear vision of the sort of business they wanted to be and the kinds of items they wished to produce. Svetruck specializes in manufacturing forklifts which allow the person operating it to function effectively within difficult environments. Svetruck believes that being capable of doing successful and safe material handling in the best possible way helps in order to add to a constructive work environment.

Home to their manufacturing facility in Ljungby, they create machinery like container handlers, forklifts and log-stackers. To this day Svetruck is proudly supplying lift trucks and various forklifts to all their global customers.

Svetruck stays focused on the future and remains devoted to maintaining their strong reputation for reliability and durability. Their fundamental approach to solid experience, high quality and more than thirty years of expertise in the field, means they could offer the market exceptional solutions for their material handling requirements.
